FlickForsk! Nordic Network for Girlhood Studies is organizing a conference on the theme Nordic Girlhoods - Critical Perspectives on Young Femininities. The purpose of the conference is to provide an opportunity for researchers studying girls to present and discuss their ongoing work. The theme encompasses all types of critical studies of girls, girlhood, and young femininity in the Nordic region. We especially want to encourage researchers from outside of Sweden to participate.

PhD students and researchers are welcome to present, with presentations being around 15-20 minutes. Taking part without presenting is also welcome. The number of places is limited and it will not be possible to participate remotely. Participation is free of charge and the conference takes place on site at Gothenburg university in Sweden from Thursday afternoon to Friday afternoon 1-2 October 2026.

Together we create an overview of the research being conducted in the Nordic region and provide an opportunity to find new contacts and collaborations!

Information and abstract

Write a short abstract/summary of what you want to present in relation to the conference theme (max. 250 words) and include your name, email address, and academic affiliation. Send your abstract to flickforsk@umu.se by 1 June, 2026.
